USIEF expects you to remain in touch and submit two reports on your U.S. experience and impressions—one to CIES at the end of your stay before leaving the U.S. and the second to Foundation after your return. Proformas for these will be given to you at the appropriate time. In addition, you will have to submit USIEF a mid-term report, half way through the grant period. The proforma will be sent to you.

Since all awards under the Fulbright-Nehru Program involve full or partial U.S. Government financing, visiting scholars are subject to the two-year foreign residence requirement associated with the J-1 visa. This means that you are not eligible to apply for status in the U.S. as permanent resident, H temporary worker/trainee, or L intra-company transferee until you have resided and been physically present in India for at least two years following your departure from the United States.

It has been a pleasure to participate in the awarding of this grant. We trust that you will have a profitable period of stay in the U.S. and we offer to you our congratulations upon the award of this grant.

Yours sincerely,

Diya Dutt
Deputy Director

THE J. WILLIAM FULBRIGHT FOREIGN SCHOLARSHIP BOARD

Office of the Chair

Dear Fulbrighter:

On behalf of the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board (FFSB), I am pleased to congratulate you on your selection for a Fulbright award to the United States. The FFSB is the Presidentially appointed 12-member Board that is responsible for establishing worldwide policies for the Fulbright Program and for selection of Fulbright recipients. Your grant is made possible through funds that are appropriated annually by the U.S. Congress and, in many cases, by contributions from partner countries and/or the private sector.

Your selection for a Fulbright award is, in itself, an achievement for which you can be justly proud. However, please bear in mind that there are several more steps to be accomplished before you become a Fulbright grantee. These include but are not limited to the following. This award is contingent upon your obtaining official research clearance from the host country, where applicable. It is also contingent upon your obtaining a satisfactory medical clearance and the necessary visas. The terms and conditions of your award and other pertinent information will be forwarded to you by the Fulbright Commission or the Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES), following completion of all formalities. After the necessary grant documents containing the terms of your grant have been provided to you for signature, you must sign them and see that they are returned as instructed.

As a Fulbright grantee, you will join the ranks of distinguished participants in the program. Fulbright alumni have become heads of state, judges, ambassadors, cabinet ministers, CEOs, university presidents, journalists, artists, professors and teachers. They have been awarded 42 Nobel Prizes. Since its inception more than 60 years ago, approximately 300,000 Fulbrighters have participated in the Program.

Developing international understanding requires a commitment on the part of Fulbright grantees to establish open communication and long-term cooperative relationships. In that way, Fulbrighters enrich the educational, political, economic, social and cultural lives in countries around the world. We expect that you, too, will become involved in the community while on your Fulbright exchange. In so doing, you will demonstrate the qualities of service, excellence and leadership that have been the hallmarks of this program for more than 60 years. As a representative of your country, you will help fulfill the principal purpose of the Fulbright Program, which is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and the people of the more than 150 countries that currently participate in the Fulbright Program.

The Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the United States Department of State, which oversees the operations of this Program throughout the world, joins the Board in congratulating you. If you have any questions, please contact your program representative at the CIES.

We hope that your Fulbright experience will be highly rewarding professionally and personally, and that you will share the knowledge you gain as a Fulbrighter with many others throughout your life.

Sincerely,

Tom Healy

Press Release
The Ester Boserup Prize for Research on Development 2016

The Ester Boserup Prize of 2016 goes to Nandini Sundar.

In connection with the ceremony, Professor Sundar will give a public lecture on 27 May 2016 at 14.00 in Festauditoriet on Bülowsvej 17, 1870 Frederiksberg C. The event is public.

Professor Nandini Sundar is an outstanding social scientist of South Asia. She has made major and original contributions to the understanding of environmental struggles. Her research interests are wide and include access to resources, citizenship, war and counterinsurgency, indigenous identity and politics, the sociology of law and inequality, and issues related to the environment, tribal rights and discrimination and exclusion in South Asia.

Nandini Sundar holds degrees in philosophy, politics, economy, and anthropology. She has researched and published on social and political marginalization in India. In addition to an impressive number of articles, her work includes Subalterns and Sovereigns: An Anthropological History of Bastar, 1854-2006 (1997), Branching Out: Joint Forest Management in Four Indian States (2001), Legal Grounds: Natural Resources, Identity and the Law in Jharkhand (2009), and the forthcoming Fire in the Forest: India's War in Bastar (2016).

Her work is highly influential in current scholarship on environmental citizenship, popular movements and claims to resources in India. Moreover, Sundar has managed to combine scholarship of the finest order with an engagement in issues of social and political marginalization. Her scholarly work has enabled her to address different audiences and has allowed her to engage in public and policy spheres in India. It is especially impressive that Sundar has been able to engage in public debate and in setting a political agenda on highly controversial issues in order to question historical privilege and injustice.

Florence, 23 March 2012

Dear Professor Thapan,

I am pleased to inform you that the Migration Policy Centre at the Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies offers you a Robert Schuman Fellowship for the period 1 September 2012 – 31 May 2013. This fellowship is offered with a grant of € 3000 per month.

You are expected to reside in Florence for the whole duration of the fellowship. During your stay you will be granted access to the EUI facilities such as the Library, canteen etc. and the Centre will provide you with a working space, with a PC and computer support service. We hope that you will take an active part in the academic activities of the Centre and the Institute and that you will contribute to the RSCAS Working Paper Series.

During your stay you will will work on your own research on Indian migrants in Europe as well as actively participate in the CARIM-India project entitled “Developing a knowledge base for policymaking on India to EU Migration”. In this framework, you are expected to:

- Write a research report on a topic of interest for the project such as Indian migrants’ integration and social interaction between migrants and the host society; migrant women; links between overseas Indians and the homeland;
- Participate in the seminars of the India-EU migration project;
- Present your research to a EUI audience in the framework of the RSCAS seminar.

Nearer the time of your visit you may contact the EUI housing office (<http://www.eui.eu/Housing/>) to organize your accommodation. You will also be contacted by Ms Filipa De Sousa of the EUI Welcome Unit regarding all other logistic matters related to your stay at the EUI.

I am looking forward to meeting you here in Florence.

Best regards
